Cheapest for 2020...

New car prices have become out of reach for many of us, but there are still some bargains out there worth driving. Here is a list of 10 inexpensive cars for 2020 that most can afford (base prices used).

10) Kia Forte - $18,715

A 147-hp four-cylinder engine, six-speed manual, and automatic emergency braking are all standard.

5) Toyota Yaris - $16,555

This Toyota hatchback is actually a Mazda wearing bold Toyota grilles and badges.

4) Hyundai Accent - $15,925
 The SE model has a five-year/60,000-mile basic warranty as well as remote keyless entry, power door locks, and power windows.

3) Nissan Versa - $15,625
 The S model has power door locks and power windows with a one-touch up/down control on the driver's side.

2) Mitsubishi Mirage - $14,990
 With its standard five-speed manual transmission, the Mirage gets 33/41 mpg.

1) Chevrolet Spark - $14,095
 Topping (or bottoming) the list at just a hair over 14k, this hatchback is Chevy's smallest car, serving as their entry level car (as other are discontinued). The Spark includes a 7.0-inch screen with Apple CarPlay and Android Auto compatibility.

Car Safety Tip of the Month!

The Dutch Reach...

With all the cyclists in the city and side streets it is important to check for them before opening your door. While it is intuitive to just use your left hand and push, using your right hand and crossing your body will help ensure you check for oncoming cyclists. By reaching across your body, you will naturally pivot to the left and look toward the side view mirror and to the side of your car. This tip comes from the Netherlands and is why it is known as the "Dutch Reach".
